Two Delightful Playlets.

Two delightful little playlets, "From Pumpkin Ridge," and "The Old Maid's Cabin," were given at the Auditorium on Friday night by students of the Hondo High School. Those who brayed the elements and attended the entertainment assert that those taking part acquitted themselves admirably and deserve a much better patronage than was accorded them, which they would undoubtedly have received had the weather been more propitious.

The purpose of the entertainment was to raise funds to assist in defraying the commencement exercises of the school, which event occurs on May 22. There is always more or less expense attendant on the ending of the school term, and by giving these entertainments and allowing the people generally to contribute and at the same time enjoy a pleasant evening, no one bears the expense.

The next entertainment scheduled perhaps the most pretentious ever undertaken by amateurs in Hondo, will occur at the Auditorium Thursday night at 8:00, when the students of the senior class will present Shakespeare's comedy-drama, "Twelfth Night." This will be given in full costume. Those who have attended the rehearsals assert the young thespians are working hard and that the portrayal of the different characters promise to be well done and that a real treat is in store for those who compliment the youngsters with their presence. The cast of characters will probably appear in these columns before the rendition of the play.

Hondo Oil and Gas Company at Work.

The Hondo Oil & Gas Company is now at work unloading and setting up their rig to drill the first well on the Toby Koch farm.

Lee Lynne and his driller, Horace White, arrived Wednesday evening.

The drilling rig, after being delayed several days, arrived here Thursday and work was begun at once, carrying the same to the new location, where the crew is now busy putting it in shape.

The officers of the company expect to have everything in readiness to start drilling by Tuesday or Wednesday of next week. They will announce the exact date, however, later, and the public is cordially invited to be present when the drill first starts down into mother earth.

OUTSIDE PARTIES BECOMING INTERESTED.

There were a crowd of visitors here last Sunday looking over the land and location of the company. Mr. Prince Baxter, an oil man from Houston, Dr. McKay of Flatonia, Dr. Houston of San Antonio, Paul Bryam and Dr. R. O. Perkins of Schulenberg, were among the number.

Mr. Baxter has had experience in practically every oil field in the country and is a man familiar with all branches of the industry. He expressed himself as highly pleased with conditions as he found them here. In fact he became so much enthused with the samples of rock and oil that are found in this section that he took some of the samples away with him, as did nearly all the others.

Although the company has been delayed somewhat in getting started we are glad to know that the work is actually going on and they are assured of the hearty support of the Hondo Anvil Herald.

Another Good Rain.

Another good rain amounting to a fraction over three inches fell in Hondo last Friday night. This rain was more general than the rain of the previous week, and so far as we know every part of the county now has a splendid season in the ground. Farmers and stockmen are decidedly more cheerful and prospects now are flattering for a prosperous year. While the rain in some sections of the county south of Hondo put a splendid season in the ground it fell so gently that it put out but little stock water. All the streams in the vicinity were very high, and the problem of stock water for this section is solved for a long time to come.

This rain will prove of estimable value to this entire section. The high wind following the rain of the previous week had encrusted the ground and farmers were apprehensive about getting their crops up. This fear was removed by this last rain, and stands of both corn and cotton are pronounced excellent. Oats, also, that were thought to be practically a loss are rapidly coming out and prospects now are for a fair yield.

Near Losing Our Sheriff.

It is very generally known that the people of this county are so anxious about the office of sheriff is merely maintained for the purpose of overseeing the lawless that drift in here from other parts. If it was not for a contingency of this kind arising the position of sheriff in this county would be purely ornamental.

But we came near losing our sheriff Wednesday of last week. A new penitentiary contractor was collecting rents for the state penal institution at Huntsville, and Sheriff Bader board ed the train with an addition to the squad already east bound. The contractor being a new one was not acquainted with sheriffs of this western country and perhaps relying somewhat on his ability to read character, and perhaps to show how infallible he was in detecting recruits for the particular army he is agent for, allowed the sheriff's prisoner to pass the seats occupied by the bunch of convicts, but our sheriff was not so fortunate. In less time than it takes to tell it the new contractor had clapped a chain around Sheriff Bader's neck, the other end of which was around the neck of an "nombre." The sheriff vehemently protested and finally prevailed on the contractor to release him and fix the chain around the real culprit's neck—which the contractor did very reluctantly.

A man doesn't usually care to tell of mishaps where the laugh is on himself, but this is the story as related by Sheriff Bader himself.

We understand the sheriff now spends most of his leisure time before his mirror trying to discover just what feature of his face so near depriving him of his liberty.

Taking a Rest.

John M. Finger, president of The First National Bank, is taking an indefinite vacation. While it was not generally suspected that Mr. Finger was not enjoying the most robust health, his intimate friends have known for some time that his health was somewhat impaired, caused by his long service and arduous labors in the bank. He is suffering from no specific malady but merely overwork, and a few months rest, entirely relieved from the exacting cares of business, will completely restore his normal health.

During Mr. Finger's absence from the bank Mr. Joe Fohn has been designated as acting president. He has had a long business experience and is fully capable of discharging the arduous duties devolving upon him.

CREDIT UNIONS IN TEXAS

F. C. Weisert
Texas State Warehouse Manager

The Texas Warehouse and Marketing Law is the outgrowth of the investigation of the American Commission which recently studied rural credits in Europe, as viewed by able Texans who were members of that commission and who, in conjunction with the Farmers' Union of Texas, were instrumental in having this law put on our statute books. Section 21 of the law covers every feature of the rural credit union system, which section reads as follows:

"* * * Corporations chartered hereunder shall have the right to loan money upon chattel mortgages, to their members only, for the purpose of enabling them to make and mature their crops."

The warehouse and marketing bulletin No. 22, of the department, dealing with the marketing and rural credits phases of the law, puts the ultimate intentions of the law in the following concrete and concise language:

"Yet the greatest feature of the law is the marketing system, and when once in operation it is conservatively estimated that the savings to the producers of this state will be many times greater than all other features of the law combined."

"In the provisions of this law there is the germ of the rural credit system. We wish to call the attention of all warehouses and of the people generally to the fact that the charter of every permanent warehouse makes of it not only a warehouse, but also a co-operative marketing system and a rural credit association. Every such warehouse has full power to conduct a co-operative selling agency in marketing any and all products. It also has power, if its members so desire, to extend credit to the producers on such terms as it finds practicable. The charter provisions of every such warehouse are broad enough that, with an adequate capital, each warehouse company can operate its own selling agency and can finance all produce stored with it, and make loans to its customers. And under the same charter developed in its broader usefulness each warehouse company may, and when provided with sufficient capital probably will, eventually be the connecting link between the farmer and the Federal Reserve banks in financing the cotton crops. With experience the usefulness of the warehouse companies, not only for warehousing, but also as marketing agencies and as genuine and practicable credit associations for aiding the producers, will be constantly widening. We do not yet realize the scope, the usefulness and greatness of the warehouse and marketing law."

"The farmer asks nothing but a square deal, and he is willing to deal fairly with others, and the world is getting to understand that he is determined to offer only a standard product. To this end, and at his demand, we have already provided for an honest bale of cotton, which shall be what it appears to be and what the market takes it to be. From this will grow year by year through warehousing, marketing and co-operative efforts, an ever widening field of usefulness."

Lending money to the producers at a favorable and low rate of interest is the vital principle of the rural credit system, and the rural credit system is based on the true theory that helping the farmer helps the world. This can be accomplished by the organization of rural co-operative credit unions which can be organized and maintained under Section 21 of the Warehouse and Marketing Law.

The organization of these unions will be beneficial to the banker and merchant as well as to the farmer. For example: Suppose 10 men organize into a union with a given amount for a capital stock. This union goes to its local banker and borrows the money to carry its members through the year. The security is sufficient and the bank can afford to let them have it at a low rate of interest. The merchant gets cash for his goods through the year and in the fall he has no bad debts; the farmer pays cash for his supplies and does not have to pay a price to cover the bad debts of the merchant who sells on time.

The union borrows the money from the bank at a low rate of interest, getting it in large sum with ample security; in turn they let it out to the farmer at a correspondingly low rate. The borrower has to look to his fellow members and they in turn can co-operate with him and will know if he is properly working his crops. The drover will be weeded out and the calamity howler who knocks the banker and merchant will be out of a job; for his immediate neighbors will have the control of the money which he is using. The banker will have his money out on gilt-edged security; the merchant will not be harassed to death with bad debts, and the farmer can pay cash for his supplies and save from 40 to 60 per cent. Suppose the farmer has to pay 10 per cent (he can get money for less under this system) for money to make his crop; he will be better able to do it than to pay the present rate which is on a sliding scale from 12 per cent upwards—and mostly upwards. This system will be one of the best methods the local merchants can adopt to fight the mail-order houses. When the farmer pays cash for his supplies and the home merchant has no bad debts to charge up to his prompt-paying patrons, the long-wished-for era will be a reality.

The fact that these unions are formed with 60 per cent of their membership of the producing class, and 40 per cent among other avocations, is proof that the principle of this law is sound.

In the New England States according to facts milk has gone up to the consumer from 5 and 6 cents a quart to 9 and 10 cents, and the price of milk has gone down to the farmer from 4½ cents in 1910 to 2½ cents the present year. There either exists a milk trust in New England or the middleman operates there the same as he does in Texas.

The fact that these unions are formed with 60 per cent of their membership of the producing class, and 40 per cent among other avocations, is proof that the principle of this law is sound.

"* * * Corporations chartered hereunder shall have the right to loan money upon chattel mortgages, to their members only, for the purpose of enabling them to make and mature their crops."

The warehouse and marketing bulletin No. 22, of the department, dealing with the marketing and rural credits phases of the law, puts the ultimate intentions of the law in the following concrete and concise language:

"Yet the greatest feature of the law is the marketing system, and when once in operation it is conservatively estimated that the savings to the producers of this state will be many times greater than all other features of the law combined."

In the provisions of this law there is the germ of the rural credit system. We wish to call the attention of all warehouses and of the people generally to the fact that the charter of every permanent warehouse makes of it not only a warehouse, but also a co-operative marketing system and a rural credit association. Every such warehouse has full power to conduct a co-operative selling agency in marketing any and all products. It also has power, if its members so desire, to extend credit to the producers on such terms as it finds practicable. The charter provisions of every such warehouse are broad enough that, with an adequate capital, each warehouse company can operate its own selling agency and can finance all produce stored with it, and make loans to its customers. And under the same charter developed in its broader usefulness each warehouse company may, and when provided with sufficient capital probably will, eventually be the connecting link between the farmer and the Federal Reserve banks in financing the cotton crops. With experience the usefulness of the warehouse companies, not only for warehousing, but also as marketing agencies and as genuine and practicable credit associations for aiding the producers, will be constantly widening. We do not yet realize the scope, the usefulness and greatness of the warehouse and marketing law.

"The farmer asks nothing but a square deal, and he is willing to deal fairly with others, and the world is getting to understand that he is determined to offer only a standard product. To this end, and at his demand, we have already provided for an honest bale of cotton, which shall be what it appears to be and what the market takes it to be. From this will grow year by year through warehousing, marketing and co-operative efforts, an ever widening field of usefulness."

Lending money to the producers at a favorable and low rate of interest is the vital principle of the rural credit system, and the rural credit system is based on the true theory that helping the farmer helps the world. This can be accomplished by the organization of rural co-operative credit unions which can be organized and maintained under Section 21 of the Warehouse and Marketing Law.

The organization of these unions will be beneficial to the banker and merchant as well as to the farmer. For example: Suppose 10 men organize into a union with a given amount for a capital stock. This union goes to its local banker and borrows the money to carry its members through the year. The security is sufficient and the bank can afford to let them have it at a low rate of interest. The merchant gets cash for his goods through the year and in the fall he has no bad debts; the farmer pays cash for his supplies and does not have to pay a price to cover the bad debts of the merchant who sells on time.

The union borrows the money from the bank at a low rate of interest, getting it in large sum with ample security; in turn they let it out to the farmer at a correspondingly low rate. The borrower has to look to his fellow members and they in turn can co-operate with him and will know if he is properly working his crops. The drover will be weeded out and the calamity howler who knocks the banker and merchant will be out of a job; for his immediate neighbors will have the control of the money which he is using. The banker will have his money out on gilt-edged security; the merchant will not be harassed to death with bad debts, and the farmer can pay cash for his supplies and save from 40 to 60 per cent. Suppose the farmer has to pay 10 per cent (he can get money for less under this system) for money to make his crop; he will be better able to do it than to pay the present rate which is on a sliding scale from 12 per cent upwards—and mostly upwards. This system will be one of the best methods the local merchants can adopt to fight the mail-order houses. When the farmer pays cash for his supplies and the home merchant has no bad debts to charge up to his prompt-paying patrons, the long-wished-for era will be a reality.

The fact that these unions are formed with 60 per cent of their membership of the producing class, and 40 per cent among other avocations, is proof that the principle of this law is sound.

HOW TO RAISE BETTER CORN

Vigorous Growth Will Help Plants to Withstand Injury Done by Many Injurious Insects.

Rotation of crops, keeping the land free of weeds and trash of all kinds, late fall plowing of infested lands, and properly nourishing the corn plants are about the only practical preventives or remedial measures that can be applied to the insects that attack corn in different ways, according to James Troop, chief in entomology at the Purdue experiment station in a bulletin on "How to Grow More and Better Corn."

The effectiveness of certain fertilizers as repellents has not been definitely determined as to extent, but the application of manure and fertilizers which produce vigorous growth will at least help the plants to withstand the injury," writes Professor Troop, in commenting upon the difference between fields that had been treated and fields that were not given additional plant food. Illustrations show corn that was fertilized had been able to make good development in spite of the insects, while unfertilized corn had seriously suffered.

GUINEA AND PEACOCK CROSS

Hybrids Resemble Letter in Their General Slender Form, Especially in Head and Neck.

Tests have been made in crossing a guinea fowl with a peacock. The hybrids resemble the peacock in their general slender form, especially in the head and neck, although there was a noticeable absence of all the characteristic appendages of the head and the train was much reduced.

The plumage exhibited striping, which is considered as the primitive type. It was of a dark fawn with black stripes in the lower part of the neck, becoming darker down with black specks in the region of the throat, abdomen and flanks.

Keeps Eggs Fresh.

A two-pound oatmeal box is said to be a good receptacle for keeping eggs fresh for a week or two. The pasteboard protects the eggs from changes of temperature. It should be gently turned every day.

Fat and the Layer.

The laying hen is not apt to become overfat. Nevertheless, it is a mistake to keep her on a diet of corn expecting her to manufacture eggs from that article. Corn is no egg food.

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body.

In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamful sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.

To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutrient gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. It is free from alcohol. Scott & Bowe, Bloomfield, N.J.

For Constipation.

Mr. L. H. Farnham, a prominent druggist of Spirit Lake, Iowa, says, "Chamberlain's Tablets are certainly the best thing on the market for constipation." Give those tablets a trial. You are certain to find them agreeable and pleasant in effect. Price, 25 cents. For sale by All Dealers.

Is it strange that the man who really does not know how to support himself actually believes that he knows it all?

Should Not Feel Discouraged.

So many people troubled with indigestion and constipation have been benefited by taking Chamberlain's Tablets that no one should feel discouraged who has not given them a trial. They contain no pepsin or other digestive ferment but strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Obtainable everywhere.

Just because the bride responds to the minister in a small voice is no sign that it isn't going to grow.

Bad breath, bitter taste, dizziness and a general "no account" feeling is a sure sign of a torpid liver. Herbine is the medicine need. It makes the liver active, vitalizes the blood, regulates the bowels and restores a fine feeling of energy and cheerfulness. Price 50c. Sold by W. H. Windrow.

Greetings:---

We beg to announce that we are now unloading our machinery and placing same on the ground for the drilling of the first well. We expect to have the rig set up and ready to start work about Tuesday or Wednesday of next week. We will announce later the hour we expect to start drilling and the public is cordially invited to be present.

We most earnestly request the hearty co-operation of the progressive citizenship of this community in this enterprise. We have every reason to believe there is an OIL FIELD around here and every man interested in the welfare of his community should be willing to do his part to find it. Every fair-minded person should want to see his community prosper and we all know that there is nothing else that would put this town on the map as quick as would the bringing in of an OIL FIELD. Therefore, we trust that every person in this section will do just as MUCH as they can and NOT as LITTLE, in this undertaking.

Within the last week we have had other oil men go over our location, and they, like all the others, were forcibly impressed with the conditions which exist here, and have every confidence that we are going to find an OIL FIELD.

ALL THE MONEY HAS NOT YET BEEN MADE IN THE OIL BUSINESS. MILLIONS HAVE BEEN MADE IN THE LAST FEW MONTHS AND THERE IS MORE YET TO COME.

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO BE ONE OF THESE. THEY TOOK A CHANCE. THE SAME THING MIGHT HAPPEN TO YOU.

When the Healdton Oil Field in Southern Oklahoma was first opened, twelve men, living in Ardmore, Okla., got together and organized the Coline Oil Company. They each put in $175.00. A few months ago they sold their holdings for ONE MILLION DOLLARS. Making a profit of $83,333.33 on each $175.00 invested and today the property would bring even more.

Also See What This Company Did

The Spencer Oil Company has some holdings in the Blackwell Oil Field in Northern Oklahoma. They drilled one well on a 160-acre tract--it was a gusher. The well and the 160 acres on which it was located was sold to the Gypsy Oil Company for a price which enabled them to declare a special dividend of fifteen hundred per cent.

Another Man Who Owns One Share of Stock in the Quaker Oil Company
Values it at $5,000.00

We believe the same opportunities exist here in Medina County to make money as did in the places above mentioned. Let us work together then and see where this oil is coming from that is found in the shallow wells. Who can tell but what the stock of the Hondo Oil and Gas Company may be worth even more than that of the Coline, Spencer or Quaker oil companies.

All parties interested in the old company will please call at our office and receive their certificates in the new company.

Are There in a Gallon of Gasoline?
That Depends on the Type of Motor You Use

When you buy a BUICK Six-Cylinder Valve-in-Head Motor Car, you not only get the last word in comfort, style, power and speed, BUT WE GUARANTEE THAT YOU GET AN AUTOMOBILE WHICH WILL GIVE YOU THE HIGHEST GASOLINE MILEAGE. It is an admitted fact that the Valve-in-Head Motor does give 15 per cent more power than any other type of gasoline motor, which means 15 per cent more mileage per gallon of gasoline. This is not a theory, but a fixed engineering principle, resulting from the perfecting of the Buick Valve-in-Head Motor. Thousands of users of Buick Valve-in-Head Six-Cylinder Cars give evidence daily that they are getting twenty miles or more per gallon of gasoline. Remember, cost of operation is a part of the cost of your car. THE PROVEN ECONOMY OF THE BUICK SHOULD MAKE IT YOUR PREFERENCE.

Typhus Fever Threatens Entire State.

Active Measures Must Be Adopted To Prevent Spread.

Citizens and Employers of Mexican Laborers Called on to Co-Operate.

Since January 1st, 72 cases of typhus fever have been reported in Texas, 26 of these during the month of April. The disease has been recognized in 11 counties, 7 of which were along the Mexican border, 4 in the interior as far north as Jones and as far east as Anderson Counties. The epidemic has followed the lines of transportation from Mexico to the interior of the State and may be traced directly to recent arrivals. All cases so far have occurred in Mexicans with three exceptions.

With 1100 miles of border, the four State quarantine stations with the assistance of the United States Immigration and Public Health Service can not prevent illegal entries. A legal entry is evidence of a clean bill of health, and in order to protect the public health of Texas labor agents and those corporations employing Mexican laborers should demand of each employee such a certificate.

All jails and public buildings as well as chair cars, sleeping cars, street cars and all public vehicles should be disinfected and kept clean and free from vermin. The prevention of a general epidemic of typhus over the entire State may be accomplished only by the co-operation of all citizens and health authorities in the disinfection of each case of typhus and the baggage and clothing. The patient should be shaved and given a gasoline bath. The usual fumigation with sulphur is not sufficient and in a majority of cases the only safe method of disinfecting the baggage or clothing is to burn it. Peace officers and health authorities should keep a close watch over all transient Mexicans and every case of fever with an eruption occurring in this class should be isolated at once and considered suspicious. The Health Departments of the cities and towns should institute a clean-up campaign in the homes of the lower classes and push it with all vigor until such homes are rendered sanitary and made free from lice and vermin of all kinds.

Those desiring a formula for the destruction of lice or the fumigation of homes may secure the same by applying to the State Board of Health.

WOMAN'S HEAD is level and her judgment good when she puts her faith in Dr. Foleys favorite Prescription. There is no beauty without good health. No body expects to become "really beautiful from the use of complexion beautifiers.

Bright eyes, clear skin, and rosy cheeks, follow the use of the "Prescription." All women require a tonic and nervine at some period of their lives. Whether suffering from nervousness, dizziness, indigestion, displacement, catarrhal inflammation, bearing-down sensations, or general debility, the "Prescription" is sure to benefit.

Miss Julia A. Doss, of Paris, Texas, says: "I was in bad health, was suffering from weak and nervous spells, and tried several kinds of medicines but got no relief until I took Foleys' Prescription." I found that it did me more good than anything I ever took. It cured me."

Good Health Doubles the Value of Your Services

A half sick man is not worth half pay. A man or woman in poor health makes a poor leader, a poor sort of a parent.

The value of Peruna in the home can scarcely be estimated. It prevents many of the common ailments. It is an excellent remedy for coughs, colds, catarrh, grip, spring fever, tired-out feeling.

Sit down and think it over. See whether you can afford to go on half sick.

Some people prefer Peruna Tablets to the fluid Peruna.

How to Subjugate High-Speed Power, the Problem—3400 r. p. m. Chalmers, the Answer

The primary object of high-speed engines for motor cars was the attainment of great racing speed.

The hardest thing in building them was to make them safe.

Another difficulty was to combine high engine speed with the feature of all-round performance which is in such imperative demand.

Now comes the remarkable 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers which attains the terrific and supreme engine speed of 3400 revolutions per minute, not only with absolute safety, but with undreamed-of acceleration, and smooth, throbless serenity of performance.

Strength of materials, compact bearing and radiation surfaces, and copious lubrication, are the outstanding features of construction that make this a safe high-speed engine.

By toning down the original might of this whizz of an engine, to a point where the average man or woman dare drive, the elimination of its superfluous energy has been translated into supreme pick-up, velvet smoothness of performance, and an annual saving of from $150 to $200 in gas.

Yet it has speed—anything up to 60 miles an hour—as fast as I care to travel in any emergency.

Every gallon of gas I put into the tank of my 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers comes through with 18 miles of sparkling going.

It's fortunate that this magnificent new Chalmers comes to us just when it does. Just now the South is buying motor cars faster than ever before. Our cotton, steel, munitions, and textile industries are sending the smoke of prosperity into the heavens.

The South is more motor-conscious than ever before. The discriminating are buying Chalmers. Bring a blank check when you come to see and feel the 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers perform.

Chalmers output is enormously increased. Today deliveries are certain, with slight, if any, delays. But a few weeks hence the dearth of raw materials may curtail the supply of cars. Order now, if you can.
